PETG Filaments: PLA's glossier, more flexible & durable cousin

What's the difference between PLA and PETG filaments?

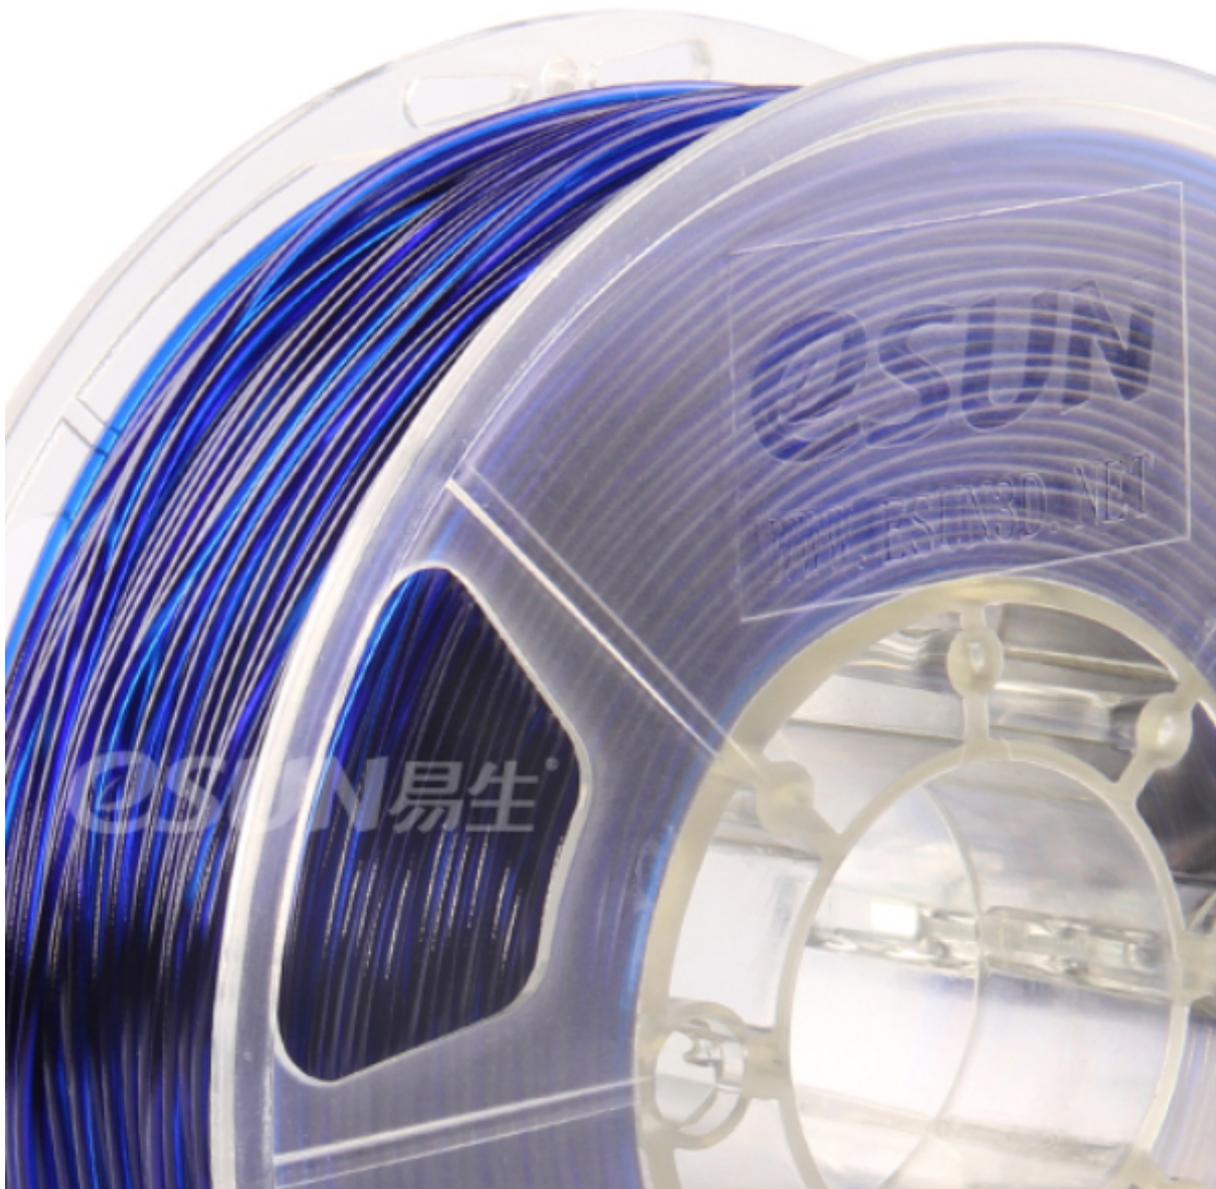

Well the most noticeable difference is PETG's transparent, glass like appearance (sometimes called T-Glass). Not only is it stunningly beautiful, but PETG filament is both incredibly flexible and durable as well as recyclable. Other great features of PETG is it has a low shrink rate, warp free and is odorless when printing! How good is that?

The PETG filaments we are offering are sourced from eSun, and currently come in 1.75mm 1kg spools in four colours:

- Yellow
- Blue
- Magenta
- Natural

At $48.40, they're an affordable addition to your 3D printing inventory.
